Whig and Courier.

John B. Sanford, Editor.

SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1848.

Whig State Convention.

The Whigs in the several Towns and Plantations in this State are requested to send Delegates to a Convention to be held at ALBANY, on Wednesday, the twenty-fourth day of May, at 10 o'clock, to consider a resolution to be reported by the Whig party for Governor for the ensuing political year.

To choose two Delegates at large, to the National Whig Convention, for the nomination of candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency, on Wednesday, the twenty-fourth day of June.

To choose two candidates for Electors at large, at the Presidential election.

And to act upon any other business, that may come before the Convention.

Every town and plantation is requested to send one Delegate (except those having one thousand inhabitants, by the census of 1840 are requested to send two Delegates—those having two thousand inhabitants are requested to send three, for each additional thousand inhabitants to send an additional Delegate.)

By order of the Whig State Committee March 3, 1848.

The following letter from the Whig representative to Congress from the Albany N. Y. district will be read with interest. It unfolds the horrors of slavery and the hardness of heart which it induces in even those who profess and call themselves Christians.

Horrors of Slavery.

Washington, April 22.

Friend Wm. L. Garrison, passing the Railroad Road Depot, I saw quite a large number of colored persons gathered round one of the Cars, and from manifestations of grief among some of them, I was induced to draw near and ascertain the cause.

I found in the car towards which they were eagerly gazing, fifty colored persons, some of whom were nearly as white as myself. A large majority of the number were those who attempted to gain their liberty last week, in the rebellion. About half of them were females, a few of whom had but a slight tinge of African blood in their veins, they were finely formed and beautiful. The men were ironed together, and the whole group looked sad and dejected. At each end of the car stood a ruffian looking guard, with large canes in their hands.

In the middle of the car stood the notorious slave dealer of Baltimore, who is a member of the Methodist Ch. in good and regular standing. He had purchased the men and women, and was taking his departure for Georgia. While observing this old grey headed dealer in the bodies and souls of men, the Chaplain of the Senate—a Methodist brother—entered the car, and took his brother Methodist by the hand, clasped with it for a short time, and seemed to shed the tears for a short time, and seemed to shed the tears for a short time, and seemed to shed the tears for a short time.

Notes on the Questions of Amendments to the Maine Constitution.

The vote on each of these questions was exceedingly close. Against the amendment relative to Governor, there was, according to the Augusta Argus, 300 majority, against that relative to Senators, 84; while the majority favorable to the amendment relative to Representatives is 647. So the Governor and Senators will be elected by majority as heretofore, while the State Representatives will be elected by plurality.

Moreover, Law Reporter, May 1848.—The present number commences a new volume under the editorial charge of Stephen B. Phillips, Esq., from the Press of Little & Brown, and forms No. 1 of a new series under the above title. It has assumed a new and more useful and a more elegant dress, with a new type and style of finish.

The general plan of the work, judging from the present number is but slightly altered. We must the digest of recent published reports, and the interesting "Mush Pot."

The No. before us is a decided improvement upon the few last numbers of the publication, and the work gives promise of future amendment.

The leading article on "The trial of Dr. Connelley" however, is our opinion altogether too meagre a notice of a case involving so much law and fact, and is calculated to give a very erroneous impression of the strength of proof on which the conviction of the prisoner was effected. The comments which the writer makes on the law of the case are ill digested and evidently unjust. On the whole the article is too hastily written, and is a disgrace to the publication.

The collection of reported cases is very valuable. Among them is one of an interesting character decided "before Mr. Justice Young at Detroit," to the effect that a postmaster is liable in damages for withholding from the news paper having the largest circulation, the advertisement of unscrupulous for letters.

The Washington Union has a long article upon the approaching Convention, from which the New York Herald gathers, that the annexation of the whole of Mexico is to be the rallying cry of the next campaign, that John Van Buren delegates will not be admitted to the Convention, and that Polk will not decline a nomination, if he can get it.

The Waterville Mail speaks of great improvement going on in that town in the way of building. A number of dwelling houses are being erected and they are getting ready for an increase of population and business on account of the opening of the Railroad.

The Bath Tribune states that the store of J. W. Avery & Co., in Richmond was consumed by fire on the 9th inst. The second story of the building was occupied by Ebenezer Esq. as a law office. Insured at the Rockingham of fire for $3,000 which will not cover the loss.

The big and small steamer T. F. Becor commences their trips from this city to Belfast, Castine, Sedgewick, Deer Island, Bluehill and Ellsworth on this morning. This must be highly gratifying to our summer friends who now have agreeable communication open by steam.

The lines went up with the signature—By a Brother we must decline publication. They are very well suited to the circumstances if written by a very young person, but not quite of the standard for the public eye as a literary production.

The Albany Evening Journal thinks that with Scott, McLean or Webster the Whigs carry every State north of Virginia except New Hampshire.

The Albany Evening Journal understands that a demonstration in favor of Mr. Webster, will be soon made by the Whigs of the Connecticut Legislature.

The New York Merchants' Ledger states that many imported goods are selling below the cost of importation, such as gingham, vestings, Irish linens, and many such goods.

The Harmonious will give one of their regular and most agreeable, concert at the City Hall this evening.

Dr. Peabody, of Farmington, a physician of some celebrity, is about opening a "Cold Water Cure" establishment in Augusta.

The present week has been one of much interest in New York on account of the religious anniversaries held there.

The story of Meats Pygare & Chipman of St. Stephen was consumed by fire on the 4th inst. Loss is building and goods $4000.

The Boston Signal thus speaks of the articles which recently appeared in the columns of our Daily paper, and were consolidated in one article in our Weekly paper, signed "Union."

Wholesale Timber Market.

Table with 3 columns: Item, Price, and Quantity. Includes items like Pine, Spruce, Fir, and various sizes of lumber.

For light and transparent articles—take one pound of the shreds of parchment, vellum, or the clippings of any clean dyed leather, boil in six quarts of water until reduced to one quart, and carefully strain it from the dregs—line about afterwards be boiled until it becomes of the consistency of glue, and it forms an excellent cement of great tenacity.

A very strong Water-proof Glue.—For Starching, or sticking together, the weather—take common glue and water, preserving a suitable amount for use, and gradually add about one-eighth in quantity of boiled linseed oil, stirring it until it becomes thoroughly mixed.

A small quantity of powdered chalk added to common glue, also makes a very strong and excellent cement.

Another that will resist the weather, may be prepared by adding two quarts of skimmed milk to half a pound of common glue.

For cementing Paper, Silk, thin Leather, &c.—take of Linseed oil and parchment glue, each one ounce of sugar-candy and gum tragacanth, each two drachms, to which add an ounce of water and boil to the consistency, when cold, of common glue. It can then be heated into such rolls, or any convenient form for use.

This glue when wet in the tongue and applied to the edges of paper, silk, or thin leather, and dried, will, under the action of any other part of the substance, remain as firm as any other part of the substance.

A Talk with Young Men.

Thus is a season of quiet and consideration with regard to Politics—one of those calm times which follow and precede the tempest. There are large numbers of young men who will probably be summoned to decide Political action for the first time next November, and who have not yet fully resolved on the course they will then take.

We will address a few words to these young men, who mean to lead useful and respected, and to do business and industry—the opposite class are not likely to hear or heed us. But the great majority of young men, we trust, will be ready to listen to our words.

THE LAST TAIL.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

August, May 10, 1848.

The Legislature met on August 10th at 10 o'clock. The House was called to order by the Speaker, David T. Fiske, of Bangor, Secretary, and Henry C. Cutler, of Westbrook, messengers, each carrying 100 votes the whole number 200.

John H. Ingraham was elected Chaplain. The House was organized by the election of H. D. McMillan of Bangor, Speaker; Samuel Bellier of Farmington, Clerk, and Samuel T. Bellier of Bangor, assistant.

Rev. Amosiah Kibbe was elected Chaplain of the House.

From Gainsborough, Vermont, &c. By the way of Vermont we have received late dates from three States. The position of affairs in Vermont is not in the slightest degree improved.

A letter from Camperdown, dated April 9th says: "Concerning the unfortunate condition of our country, I can only tell you, that yesterday the schooner Apocoma arrived here from New Orleans. She brings information that the Government at Washington had ordered Gen. Ferry to this point with some troops, in order to drive those parties which have not taken into consideration the rights of the Indians, who still continue their advance upon the Capital, committing the most outrageous acts of barbarity."

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 9.

In the Senate—Mr. Johnson, of Md., moved to take up the resolution which he had previously offered asking the President to inform the Senate whether there were official employees in the military service of the United States whose names had not been sent into the Senate, and who, by reason of withholding the same, had been prohibited from receiving pay. Mr. Johnson said that the President had a right to know why the President had not sent in the names of Gen. Gideon J. Pillow and Gen. Caleb Clift with the names of other officers.

Mr. Niles of Conn. contended that the President, as an individual, was not subject to the Senate, or its mandates, but that he, as the executive, was a coordinate branch of the government, and that, as such, was beyond the power, or control of the Senate, and that the Senate had no power to inquire into, or to call in question, rights granted to him by the constitution.

Mr. Johnson rose, and said that he was not going to reply, but Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, moved to take up the bill relating to the relief proposed to be supplied in Yucatan, in the way of military occupation, &c.

Mr. Lewis, of Ala., moved to lay the resolution on the table, which was lost.

Mr. Jefferson Davis, of Mississippi, said that the bill should be so framed as not to violate an important principle, and considered the ground of the proposed intervention was wrong. He said he could not have any action upon the score of humanity. He preferred to put it upon the ground that Mexico was a free nation, and that we had no right to interfere with her.

Mr. Davis accepted the amendment.

Mr. Niles ridiculed the idea of alarm being manifested at the growth of British power in that continent. He contended that we had nothing to fear from any power on earth, and we had no moral reason to fear England, then we had no moral reason to fear England, then we had no moral reason to fear England, then we had no moral reason to fear England.

Phrenology in Boston.

Many of our readers are likely to be led to learn that the Brothers O. N. & L. N. Fawcett, Phrenologists from New York, are now lecturing in Boston. Those of our friends who visit that city, during their stay, will have an opportunity to attend these lectures, and avail themselves of their professional services.

Phrenology in Boston.

Calcutta Teaching Doops.

(In a grand manner) the school of English, as an object of pride, and is now used by the best Europeans and British in preference. A celebrated Chemist (last son of the celebrated Dr. Calcutta) has been engaged to prepare "Calcutta" with other simple ingredients, with the name of the TOOTHACHE. After using it in an ordinary case it has been found to give relief, and in a possible danger in using it, as it is not in the least hurtful to the system. All that is necessary in using this Doop, is to saturate with it a bit of cotton or lint, and place it in the cavity of the tooth. Relief will be instantaneous. None genuine without the signature of Doop & Co. on the wrapper. Sold at No. 18 Tremont Row, Boston. For sale in Bangor by G. W. LADD.
